

*The Present is the consequence of a hide-and-seek game played by one's will power and Destiny, in the Past.
The Future shall offer the fruit of the seeds planted day by day, and which shall prove sooner or later to be either sweet or sour.*

New Year Message

Very Dear Sufi Brothers and Sisters,

It is so interesting to read in the Teachings of Hazrat Inayat Khan, how closely the subject called Moral Culture is related to specific relationships such as:

Relations between Partners,
Relations with Children,
Relations with close Family members
Relations with distant Relatives,
Relations with true Friends
Relations with Acquaintances
Relations with Strangers
Relations with Persons in higher functions
Relations with disagreeable Opponents
Relationship with the God Ideal

At all these various levels of relationships, Hazrat Inayat Khan continually emphasizes the importance of holding to basic qualities such as

Kindness -
Consideration -
Forgiveness -
Beneficence -
Reciprocity at the level of the heart-
Understanding for the opinion of others -
Avoiding all tendencies of self-pretense-
Talking to each at the pitch of their own tone-
Having respect for those, dependent on an example.
Restraining from doing to others, anything that one would not want to experience oneself-

The one who practices these great principles – securing thereby, harmonious relationships in all circumstances – could verily be seen as the Holder of the Golden Key to Happiness.

With all the best wishes for the New Year from you Sufi Brother and Sister
Hidayat and Aziza